

Case Study: Wooden Shelving Application

Client: Private Medical Practice

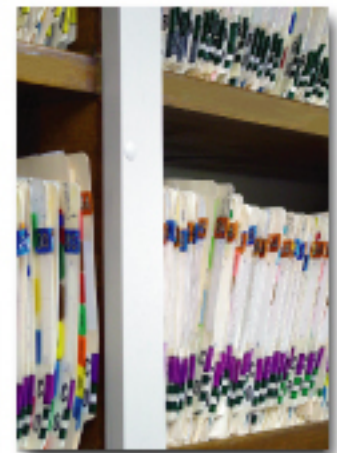

Situation:

A small doctor's office found itself in an organizational nightmare. With thousands of files on wooden shelves, our client sought to improve visual appearance and secure medical files without replacing the wooden shelving units or having to remove and replace thousands of files.

Solution:

Using Rollok rolling doors, this shelving space was easily secured by simply affixing guide rails to the face of the pre-existing unit. With just a few simple steps, this eyesore was quickly secured and the visual appearance was drastically improved. In an already tight office space, rolling doors do not take up any additional space (unlike traditional swinging doors) and require no clearance to operate.

Quote:

"Rollok's doors were quick to install and have been easy to use for my staff. They were a perfect solution..."
